WAR RESOLUTION IS INTRODUCED TODAY

Senators Interviewed Expressed Opinion That Action Would Be Taken in Two Weeks

(International News Service.)

Paris, Oct. 20.—A tremendous sensation was caused today by the announcement by the Matin that Bolo Pasha, alleged German agent, was engaged in a gigantic plot to enable Germany to seize Mexico. The story is based on evidence gained at the preliminary investigation, which is still under way. Information was disclosed by Baron Guenin, who remarked that he believed his testimony would certainly bring Mexico into the war on the side of the allies.

(International News Service.)

Mexico City, Oct. 20.—A resolution calling upon Mexico to join the allies was introduced in the senate today. It was signed by Dr. Antonio Alonza, Jose Reynosa and Gen. Rafael Copeda de Conchilla. A number of senators who were interviewed after the presentation of the resolutions expressed the opinion that relations between this country and Germany would be severed within a fortnight.

GARFIELD GIVEN RIGHT TO OPERATE MINES AND ROADS

(International News Service.)

Washington, Oct. 20.—Unless peace is restored in the central coal belt by Monday, President Wilson will be asked by Fuel Administrator Garfield to sanction his plan for drastic action. This became certain today when Garfield received from Attorney General Gregory a full definition of the powers given him by congress. He was told that under them he could take over and operate the mines and coal carrying railroads if necessary.

Early reports today from John A. White, president of the United Mine Workers, who went to Indianapolis to persuade the miners back into line, were not altogether reassuring. Meanwhile Administrator Garfield, through the state fuel administrators, today began inquiries to locate quotas of coal.

SITUATION LESS GRAVE.

(International News Service.)

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 20.—The Illinois miners' strike is assuming less grave proportions today. Many of the mines are resuming operations, according to reports.

Capt. Wert Makes The Highest Grade

Decatur Man Sets a Mark for Officers of Many Years' Experience.

Capt. Thos. W. Wert, of Decatur, has made the highest marks on examination of any of the officers in training at the machine gun school at Ft. Sill, Okla., according to a letter which he has written to Council E. Elliott, of Albany.

The record is an especially good one in view of the fact that regular army officers of eighteen years' experience were included in the classes, as well as many officers who far out-ranked Capt. Wert.

Captain Wert made an exceptionally good grade at the first officers' reserve school at Atlanta, narrowly missing a majorship. It is expected that he will now be promoted to that rank.

Antilles Horror Causes Public to Buy Liberty Bonds

(International News Service.)

Washington, Oct. 20.—During the next seven days the people of the United States must subscribe $3,000,000,000 to the second Liberty Loan if the $5,000,000,000 goal is to be reached.

Early telegraphic reports from several federal reserve districts showed that the sinking of the transport Antilles by a German U-boat has had a salutary effect on bond buyers.

Our Boys Have Not Yet Reached Macon

(International News Service.)

Macon, Ga., Oct. 20.—The 2,800 Alabama selectmen from Camp Pike, Ark., had not arrived here today, but are expected shortly. They will be used to bring Alabama national guard units now at Camp Wheeler here up to full war strength.

After the drawing the crowd assembled on the sidewalk and posed for a picture, made by Sullivan, the well-known photographer.

To Lessen Labors Of Local Boards

(International News Service.)

Washington, Oct. 20.—With the completion of the draft of the first army of 687,000 men, a new system will be installed for the creation of succeeding armies which will greatly lessen the labors of local boards, according to a statement issued this afternoon by Gen. Crowder.

Harris-Cortner Buy $5,000 2nd Liberty Loan Bonds

The largest local purchase of the second Liberty Loan Bonds was announced today by Chairman T. A. Bowles of the Albany Liberty Loan district. The purchase was made by the well-known Decatur cotton firm of Harris-Cortner Co., who invested $5,000 in the patriotic paper.

Indications now are that the Twin Cities and the Albany Liberty Loan district will surpass expectations in subscriptions to the second Liberty Loan. A gigantic total is already in sight, as large concerns and small investors alike are doing their "bit" by helping to finance the war.

J. B. Schimmel "Kicks in" On Morgan County Boys' Tobacco Fund

J. B. Schimmel, popular proprietor of a Second avenue pool room, and patriotic citizen, today "kicked in" on the Morgan County Boys' Tobacco Fund with a contribution of $4, the largest so far received. "I am perfectly willing to contribute some more from time to time, for this is a cause that appeals to every man who admires a soldier or loves a smoke," said Mr. Schimmel, who incidentally contributed to every fund raised for giving the selected men a send-off and more than a year ago chipped in to send the Daily to the boys on the Mexican border.

Now that the cotton season has opened, the Daily hopes to get many contributions from the farmers who have friends and relatives at the front. The Town Man, too, can do his bit with a cash donation or a check made payable to W. R. Shelton, treasurer.

RED CROSS MEET PLACE MACHINERY EDUCATIONAL ONLY FOR HOSIERY MILL

MAJ. LEPPERT ADVISES THAT NO
FINANCIAL PURPOSE IS INVOLVED.

That the approaching state-wide Red Cross convention to be held at Birmingham is for educational purposes only is stressed in the following letter sent out by Maj. W. J. Leppert, director of the Gulf Division, to the various Red Cross chapters: "It is very important that we particularly stress the fact that the approaching Birmingham convention is in no sense planned for financial purposes. You should spread the information broadcast that there will be no membership drive of any kind attempted at the convention that there will be no contributions solicited and no donations of any kind asked for. "Please strongly impress this fact upon the people and tell them all, making the fact known through the papers also, that this is an educational convention intended to explain all matters of organization detail, and present to the people every fact and explanation necessary to make Alabama Red Cross organizations splendidly efficient. I hope to incite enthusiasm in the producing end of the Red Cross, but am not considering the convention from a financial viewpoint.

LARGE FORCE OF MEN NOW ON GROUND. INSTRUCTORS COME
TUESDAY.

A large force of men are busily engaged in installing machine for the Nick-A-Jack hosiery mill in Decatur. Ribbing machines for making hosiery tops, knitting machines for the leg and foot, loopers for the toe and clippers used in making the double sole are being put in place.

Four men from the Chattanooga office are here and seven others who will act as instructors will arrive on Tuesday night. Those on the job now are Claude Williams, superintendent; Roy Harris, in charge of the looping and ribbing; W. P. Tinker, master mechanic, assisted by Ben Rawlings. Messrs. Williams and Harris will become permanently identified with the new mill.

One 30-horsepower boiler has been installed to furnish heat for the factory.

Commodious separate toilet rooms have been arranged for men and women in which shower baths will later be installed.

THINKS WAR ENDS IN SUMMER

EIGHTH DISTRICT CONGRESSMAN
BELIEVES THAT KNOCKOUT
BLOW WILL BE DELIVERED
WHEN AMERICAN ARMY IS IN THE FIELD.

Congressman Ed. B. Almon, of Tusculum, was the principal speaker last night at the Y. M. C. A. to the Boy Scouts of Albany and their friends when two medals were presented on behalf of the government of the United States to Sam Hollingsworth and E. Z. Bailey, two local Scouts, who sold ten bonds during the campaign for the first Liberty Loan.

Judge Almon referred feelingly to the work of the Boy Scouts in the great war and declared they have their work to perform and are doing it as nobly as are their older brothers in khaki. He urged the Scouts to renew their efforts to sell bonds during the Boy Scouts bond campaign which begins today and continues until Oct. 27. At the conclusion of his address he presented the medals to the Scouts, who received them standing at salute.

Scoutmaster R. W. Cowart, who presided over the meeting, in introducing Judge Almon, said that his audience expected him to tell something of the Washington view on the war. Judge Almon responded by declaring that it was his personal opinion that the war will end by next summer.

"The United States has raised and equipped an army and navy in the short space of five and one-half months better than any other nation on earth ever did," he said. "I believe firmly that the American troops will make their weight felt 'over there' in a very short time. On the western front, with the British on the north, the French on the south and the Americans in the middle, I look for a great offensive drive to be launched by next spring that will either make the Germans sue for peace while yet on French soil or that will drive them back over the River Rhine. I am hopeful that the victory will be won and our war aims attained before this time next year."

The speaker stressed the point, however, that this cannot be done unless the American troops are sustained by the people at home and this can

(International News Service.)

London, Oct. 20.—Twenty-seven persons were killed and 53 wounded in the German air raid over England early today. These figures were contained in an official statement issued at noon. Most of the damage done in the city was confined to houses in the business district.

(International News Service.)

Paris, Oct. 20.—Three German Zeppelins that were attempting to raid French soil were shot down by French anti-aircraft cannon today. One of the great German airships was downed near St. Clement and another near Rambervillies. The first was destroyed about 7 o'clock, but the war office in making the announcement did not give the details. It was unofficially reported that the crews of the Zeppelins were probably killed. The destroyed air craft were of the largest and most powerful type.

(International News Service.)

Washington, Oct. 20.—The survivors of the American troop transport Antilles, sunk by a German submarine with the loss of 70 lives, are being brought to this country by the warship convoy that was with the transport when the U-boat attack was made. It was at first thought that the survivors would be taken to England or France. Until they arrive it is probable that the full details of the disaster will not be learned. In the absence of details, officials were speculating as to the number of destroyers in the convoy. It was not believed there were more than two or three. Another question was whether there were other transports with the Antilles at the time she was sunk. The Antilles was well armed and carried a picked gun crew.

At the navy department the identity of the officer commanding the guard was withheld.

(International News Service.)

London, Oct. 20.—Swift German battleplanes, convoyed by Zeppelins, attacked London and the eastern counties early today. As soon as the alarm was given people began taking refuge in the bomb proofs and the underground railways.

(International News Service.)

Copenhagen, Oct. 20.—German troops are today occupying Dagoe Island, the second largest of the group dominating the entrance to the Gulf of Riga. Under heavy fire from German dreadnaughts and cruisers, troops were landed at Iero and began a drive across the island, although their progress was hotly contested by the Russians. Advances from Petrograd today stated that the government archives are being removed to Moscow.

(International News Service.)

London, Oct. 20.—A battle in which two British destroyers were sunk took place in the North Sea on Wednesday, the admiralty announced today.

The lost warships were part of a British fleet that was patrolling the North Sea between the Shetland Islands and the Norwegian coast in search of German U-boats. German naval forces were encountered and the action followed.

(International News Service.)

London, Oct. 20.—An artillery battle of "all nations" is raging today over a 30-mile front in Belgium. British, French, Belgian, Portuguese and German guns are in action, and the cannonading on the West Flanders front has risen to such a tenacity of "typhoon fire" that it can again be heard in England. The big gun duel which was formerly confined to the area northeast and northwest of Ypres now extends almost to Neuport.

The war office statement at noon said that German artillery was in full blast all night against British positions north of Lens and along the Ypres-Roulers railway in Belgium.

KAISER WILL FIRE THE CHANCELLOR ON RETURN.

(International News Service.)

Amsterdam, Oct. 20.—Conferences between Reichstag political leaders and the Kaiser were arranged today, according to a dispatch from Berlin. They will be held upon the return of the Kaiser from Constantinople and upon them will depend the political fate of Chancellor Michaelis. The Berliner Lokal Anzeiger in a statement says: "Immediately upon the return of the Kaiser he will confer upon recent events and decide upon changes in certain high offices."

This statement, evidently made on high authority, has caused much comment.

Albany Boy Scouts Sell Liberty Bonds

Youngsters Make a Killing and Several Thousand Dollars Will Be Secured.

Albany Boy Scouts today began the sale of the second Liberty Loan bonds, several of the khaki-clad youngsters working industriously all day long in placing the patriotic paper. Many of the Scouts reported unusual success, some of them having sold as many as ten bonds during the day. It is expected that the combined sales of the Scouts during the campaign will amount to several thousand dollars. The bonds are going like hot cakes, the sale being much more spirited than was that of the first Liberty loan.

Arwin Draper Fails To Break into Army

Although Arwin Draper, son of Secretary J. L. Draper of the Morgan county exemption board, made a strong effort to break into the new national army, having taken on 1 1/2 pounds additional weight between the periods of his examination and re-examination, he failed. Mr. Draper was first accepted on the re-examination, but when his employers, Brock & Spight, asked that he be called back and further examined, he was rejected by the physicians.

YANKEE DOODLE OVER THERE.

Billy "Single" Clifford is coming with his singing show, "Over There." Here are the words of "Over There," the greatest military song of the day, written by Geo. M. Cohan. You should get a copy early. Hear it at the Masonic Monday evening, Oct. 22:
Johnnie get your gun, get your gun, get your gun;
Take it on the run, on the run, on the run;
Hear them call you and me,
Every son of liberty;
Hurry right away, no delay, go today.
Make your daddy glad to have such a lad;
Tell your sweetheart not to pine,
To be proud her boy's in line.

CHORUS.

Over There, Over There.
Send the word, send the word, to be ware;
That the boys are coming, the BOYS are coming.
The drums rum-tumming, ev'ry where
So prepare, say a prayer,
Send the word, send the word, over there;
We'll be over, we're coming over,
And we won't come back 'till it's over,
Over There, Over There.

Johnnie get your gun, get your gun, get your gun;
Johnnie show the Hun you're a son of a gun,
Hoist the flag and let her fly,
Yankee Doodle, do or die;
Pack your little kit, show your grit,
do your bit;
Yankees, to the ranks, from the towns and the tanks,
Make your mother proud of you,
And the old Red, White and Blue.

Major Chas. Bassett was invited by Judge Almon to address the audience. Major Bassett declared that his only regret was that his age prevented his serving the country as he did during the civil war. He complimented the Boy Scouts on their work and said that they are doing as much as any other agency to win the war "over the Huns and their conglomeration of cruelty."

New Silk Mill Will Open Soon

E. C. Rolker, of New York, proprietor of the new Albany silk mill, arrived here today and at once began to rush the installation of the machinery which is being placed in the handsome building just completed. Mr. Rolker stated that seven carloads of machinery was already on the ground and that one additional car was en route. As fast as the mechanics can assemble the parts, the machinery will be set up and made ready for use. It is expected that the entire plant will be in operation with the next two weeks.

Already more than thirty girls have made application for employment in the mill, and it is expected that this number will be immediately increased. Mr. Rolker stated that those who made application first would be employed, provided they meet the requirements. Girls over 16 years of age, of neat appearance, and young boys, are wanted. About 60 operatives will be employed at the start, and the number gradually increased. Application blanks can now be obtained at the Central National Bank, Thompson's Drug Store, Preuit-Dillehay Drug Store, the Albany-Decatur Daily or Speake & Moebes, or the mill building, where Superintendent Wright has already opened offices.

Terry Placed Behind Bars at Russellville

Russellville, Oct. 20.—Rev. J. T. Terry, charged with the murder of Dr. Thomas Hughes on Oct. 3, has been removed to the Franklin county jail, where he will remain until Oct. 29, on which day he is to have a hearing before Judge A. W. Hargett. The county jail is only a little more than a block from Rev. Terry's residence and being unable to walk, he was carried in an automobile. Rev. Terry was placed in the hospital ward and his physician will continue to visit him daily, although he has practically recovered from his wounds. Rev. Terry stated that he was not worrying over his troubles except at times and that he knew the law must take its course, but in the end he would come out all right. There is a great deal of talk now, he said, but things will change when the public knows the particulars of the tragedy. His wife will be permitted to remain with him until he is perfectly well and the presence of a physician is no longer needed.

Oct. 28 Fixed As Day of Prayer

Carrier Finds Wound in Place of Ring When He Digs Himself Out of Debris

When J. C. Smith, a carrier on Albany Rural Route No. 2, picked himself up from the ground where he had been spilled when his horse climbed a fence and left the buggy behind, he found that he had exchanged a wound for a cold band ring that he wore on his left hand. The ring had disappeared and is still missing, although Mr. Smith recovered every piece of mail matter and a considerable amount of mail; change that had been scattered out. He is unable to explain just what happened to the ring.

The horse made his dash yesterday at noon. Mr. Smith had dinner at Clement's store, just over Purleson mountain, near Hartselle. When he hitched up to resume his journey, the horse was attracted by the neighing of a steed in an adjoining field. Without ceremony, the equine made a dash to join his brother horse and took no notice of the fence intervening, further than to clear it at one leap. The buggy wasn't so well versed in hurdling and stuck to the top rail. Mr. Smith was thrown out and the buggy badly damaged.

More Alien Enemies Caught at N. Y.

(International News Service.) New York, Oct. 20.—The federal dragnet for alien enemies in New York continued its operations today. Officials have confined their hunt to local ports and harbors and to date 68 German mechanics have been taken to Ellis Island and interned. This does not include 35 suspects already interned at the island. At the same time the government is considering revoking many of the 10,000 permits issued to aliens which permit them to enter barred zones.

Kings Without Countries

KING ALBERT—THE BELGIAN.

There is a portion of the allied line of battle that is sacred. Consecrated by the hot blood of suffering Belgian infantry is that tiny strip of Flemish soil between Ypres and the sea. It is here, on a barren strip of sand, that a stern wall of Belgian steel mothers the last pitiful remnant of the "ward of the Christian nations"—brave Belgium.

The sinister Hun saps and surges ever against a last desperate indomitable defense. A defense; a living, pulsing, vibrant protection that eats, absorbs and welcomes the German steel that the remorseless enemy may not desecrate the last brave galaxy of Belgian homes.

Somewhere in Flanders, lost in that heroic line of life, the king of all the Belgians is fighting. With the courage of a lion and the brave blond king keeps his face toward the enemy in the defense of this, the last of his kingdom. Sad blue eyes, striking blond hair, and six feet of solid muscle distinguish the man from his officers. No regalia, no display, but the dominating magnetism of this romantic king mark him out as a man, a complete man—and every inch a king.

Through every heart-rending, spirit-breaking phase of the "Great Retreat" King Albert suffered with his men. It was the unconquerable spirit and unquenchable fire in this ruler's brilliant mind that inspired the astounding defense of the royal fortresses of Liege, Namur and Antwerp. Twice did the cold gray Belgian turrets sweep back the Hun's massed attacks while all Belgium, indeed, the nations of the world, felt the repercussion of a patriotism so sublime and wonderful that we wondered if these Belgian regiments were formed of demi-gods.

And then came the hour when the unreachable Teuton engines destroyed from a distance the Belgian defense. Great tons of Hun explosives blew the cement cones bodily from their emplacements and the sullen gray backs prepared to advance. As the Hun rolled on to the forts at Namur, Albert of the Belgians was found one night by his staff in a small thicket by the side of a military road. Torrents of rain were falling and the heavens were splitting in anguish. The king was on his knees, praying to his God. The intermittent flashes of the lightning illuminated a scene of wraith-like splendor. From that night on the Belgian king has not been seen to smile.

CURING SWEET POTATOES FOR USE IN THE HOME

By J. C. C. Price, Associate Horticulturist, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.
Storing the sweet potato crop has been one of the most serious problems of the sweet potato grower. The practice of storing in banks, pits, or trenches is not safe or satisfactory. Sweet potatoes should be cured and then kept in a dry place and at a temperature of about fifty to sixty degrees Fahrenheit, as shown in Bulletin No. 197 of the Alabama Experiment Station, which has just been published. Those growing fifty bushels, or more, can well afford to build a storage house as described in the above named bulletin. If the grower has but five to fifty bushels, they may be handled as follows:

When the potatoes are well matured they should be dug, sorted and cured. Do not wait for frost to kill the vines, as frozen potatoes are dangerous for food and are hard to keep. The curing may be done by grading and spreading the potatoes in the sun for a week to ten days, being careful to protect them from rain or heavy dews. At the end of this period the potatoes may be packed in barrels, boxes, or crates and placed in a dry room and protected from freezing. Or they may be placed in an out room that is dry and protected from the cold by covering with dry fodder, hay or pine straw. Do not use cellars or out-houses with dirt floors that are damp.

If a vacant room is available that has means of heating, the potatoes may be kept there by carefully sorting and placing in slatted boxes, crates, or hampers, or the slatted potato barrel. A fire should be built as soon as the potatoes are brought into the room, raising the temperature to eighty or eighty-five degrees Fahrenheit if possible, with windows and door open. Continue the fire for ten days or until the potatoes appear to be thoroughly cured. On cold nights during the curing, the room may be closed.

As soon as the potatoes are cured, the room is closed. During a cold spell, when the temperature in the room falls to forty-five degrees Fahrenheit and the temperature outside is still falling, a fire should be built, but not hot enough to raise the temperature above sixty degrees.

If a farmer has just a few bushels and has plenty of floor space, the potatoes can be fairly well cured by spreading out in thin layers on the floor and let remain until cured and then store in box or barrel as described above.

treat cost Albert unutterable anguish. As the months of hell flashed past and Britannia struck like a falcon at the German flank on the Marne, the king decided to stand at Ypres. There were only sand dunes, but it was holy Belgium, and the army prepared to cast its last measure of devotion to Albert and the motherland. They stood.

With the king, the kind of a king who could bend an inch bar of iron, a little lady always journeyed. When all his world was converted to a living inferno, it was his queen who comforted him. She had been the Princess Elizabeth of the royal house of Bavaria, of pure Teuton blood. Their marriage, in 1906, has always been reckoned as the most successful love match among the royal houses of Europe. It would, indeed, be almost to imagine the young King Albert accepting the dictates of state counselors in an affaire d'amour.

After Neuport-Dixmude, the Belgian armies were wearily stumbling along a battered military road. It was mid-day and the sun glinted on the royal standard on one side of the road. In the grass a man, caked with mud and grime, was dead in the sleep of exhaustion. It was the King Albert—and his men, suffering as they were, wept as they saw their king lying thus. They made blundering attempts to keep their equipment from rattling and endeavored to preserve a silence so as not to awake him.

The king has been twice wounded. America's generous response to Belgium's need touched him deeply and his letter of thanks to the American people came from a grateful heart.

There is character in the king of all the Belgians. His kingdom consists of an ineffable love from every Belgian subject and a dreary strip of land "between Ypres and the sea."

FORMALIN TREATMENT FOR SMUT ON OATS

By D. J. Burleson, Agronomist for Extension.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.
Oat smut is found in all parts of Alabama. It frequently decreases the yield from 10 to 20 per cent. This means a loss of several dollars per acre. The formalin treatment costs about five cents per acre and will absolutely control oat smut.

One of the simplest ways to apply this treatment is as follows: Add two tablespoonfuls of formalin to each three gallons of water. Spread the seed oats out on a wagon sheet or other heavy cloth. Thoroughly wet all the seed by sprinkling with the solution while stirring. Draw up the corners of the sheet to cover the seed so that the fumes from the formalin are held in. After about eight hours spread out the seed thinly to dry, so that germination will not begin. The seed may be sown while damp but more seed should be used to allow for swollen condition of grain. Before sacking, the sacks should be treated with a solution of formalin stronger than that given above.

This treatment will also prevent stinking smut on wheat, but it will not prevent loose or black smut on wheat. Stinking smut seems not to be sufficiently prevalent to make the formalin always advisable for wheat. But it should always be used for oats.

COTTON SEED MEAL FOR WHEAT,

By J. F. Duggar, Director Extension Service and Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.
Cottonseed meal is a good fertilizer for carrying the nitrogen required by wheat. However, in using cottonseed meal at the rate of one hundred or more pounds per acre, one should be careful that the meal does not come in immediate contact with the seed wheat. For example—they should not be sown at the same time through the grain drill, when this amount or some larger amount of cottonseed meal is used. Repeatedly we have noted the fact that such close contact causes a poor stand of wheat.

The cottonseed meal should first be applied, and, if possible, harrowed in, and then the seed wheat sown. Oats are apparently subject to injury in the same way, but apparently they require a larger amount of cottonseed meal to thin the stand.

There is not the same objection to using acid phosphate and seed grain in close contact.

TWO SAM'S ADVERTISING DOES NEWSPAPERS INJUSTICE.

The treasury department, following the precedent which it laid down itself, is condemning its advertising of the second Liberty Loan to the distribution of posters. The lithographs, as attractive as such can be made, adorn many windows and signboards, but they carry no real appeal. At the same time, the government is making it appear as if this form of advertising were superior to newspaper advertising—the kind that has sold enough Coca-Cola to build the Candler building with its spending money.

The hard solid facts in the case are that the Liberty Bonds are being sold through the pulling power and patriotism of the daily newspapers. Individuals and banks are paying for advertising space in these publications, and the publishers are contributing millions of dollars' worth of free reading notices, most of them on the front pages and in editorial columns where money cannot place a paid advertisement. Posters may attract a crowd to a circus, for the sawdust ring and its tinsel performers are already so well advertised that the only additional publicity they need is that which gives the place and time of their appearance, but they have never yet been able to reach the human heart which is moved by the impulse that comes from education. Only the constant hammering, the everyday appeal to the noble emotions, the eternal reminder of duty can accomplish such stupendous results as the subscription of the greatest loan in the world's history.

What poster ever told the story of a Henry Ford investing $10,000,000 in a single bond issue? What poster ever gave front page notice of the activities of local committees? What poster ever kept track, day by day, of the activities of any campaign? All that the lithos can do is to remind that something is going to happen, provided the newspapers get in behind it hard enough.

The treasury department, of course meant that the newspapers should do a great big "bit" in the way of donating their space to the government. It failed, however, to tell the public this fact, and the result has been that many immature advertisers really believe that the government thinks it can sell Liberty Loan bonds in any amount by spending a small fortune for some nice-looking window cards.

MORE COMMUNICATIONS WOULD BE WELCOMED.

Under the caption of "Voice of the People" the Daily from time to time publishes communications from local citizens on topics of general interest. The Daily welcomes these contributions, and only requires that they shall be over the writer's signature, so that the paper assumes no responsibility for his views, and that they be of reasonable brevity. Articles of a personal nature, free advertising and fluff at various religions and creeds are of course taboo; they are always out of place in good society. The Daily feels that this column could be made of real value to the community if a larger number of persons availed themselves of the opportunity which it affords of putting before the public any worth-while idea which they have.

GREAT NITRATE PLANT.

(Nashville, Tennessee.)

Official announcement comes from Washington to the effect that the twenty-million-dollar nitrate plant will be built at Sheffield, Ala., at Muscle Shoals, on the Tennessee river. The plant will manufacture ammonia and nitric acid.

The fact that the landowners of that section took the advice of the newspapers and permitted the government to fix the price on the land to be utilized for the plant is a commendable thing. These owners of land could see the great advantage to the South of having this immense plant erected at Muscle Shoals, and they displayed their loyalty to the country in accepting the prices set for the land. There was not a slacker in the whole number.

The location of this enterprise in the South will be the means of revolutionizing this section of the country. When this plant is completed it will mean that the farmers of the country will be enabled to purchase fertilizers for their farms at prices that will permit of profitable business. They have been long-suffering, and the relief that is in sight is welcomed by the men who raise the foodstuffs and the cotton for the nation.

The benefits of the erection and operation of this plant are so widespread that it is impossible even to estimate its extent. The entire country will feel the effects; but the South will benefit to the greatest degree, by reason of the fact that the plant is in this section. There could have been nothing more to the advantage of this part of the country than securing the location of this colossal enterprise.

If the war is still in progress when this plant is ready for operation, it will be used in the manufacture of these things that go into ammunition. This will be a saving of millions to the government. In times of peace the plant will be utilized in the interests of the farmers of the country, and will mean their liberty and freedom, their absolute independence.

The government undoubtedly will rush the erection of the plant, and will have it in operation much earlier than the general public would now anticipate.

THE CALL FOR TOBACCO.

Soldier boys writing from France are unanimous in declaring that the one need of the men "over there" is smoking tobacco—the good American brands to which they are accustomed. The "boys" do not want baubles and trinkets, small nothings that burden the mails and occupy good space that should be used for transporting rations, but large and luscious packages of the weed. This solace in the lonely hour is the indispensable that the American fighting man craves and must have.

Under circumstances like these, the response to the call which the Daily has made for tobacco money is disappointing. A few benevolent citizens, men and women who realize fully that the boys can't get their most prized possession abroad, have "kicked in" liberally. The great majority have allowed the call to go unheeded. They have signified by their inaction that they do not quite understand the claim which the soldier boys have on them. There are one thousand men and women in Morgan county who could spare a dollar every month for a cause like this. The aggregate would be more than sufficient to keep every "Sammy" smoking up and in fine spirits for any task.

Were you out in the trenches who feel keenly the apparent neglect of the folks back at home? If you would, then "kick in" by making a contribution to the Morgan County Boys' Tobacco Fund.

Even the war, with its blighting effects and its uncertainties, has not checked the expansion of the Twin Cities. There are more business houses under construction here now than at any time since boom days. This in the face of the fact that business men are unusually cautious and are trying to nothing that is not a cinch.

The following half-page advertisement appears in the Huntsville Mercury-Banner: "Gas. The Best Fuel. Ask For Rates. Phone 135." Here's hoping that "135" is not the telephone number of either of our esteemed Huntsville contemporaries.

Chancellor Michaelis seems to be the next goat that the Kaiser will sacrifice to the people of his empire in an effort to appease the growing demand for peace.

The patrons of the mail order house will be compelled to lick an additional cent's postage after November 2. Some blessings are sugar coated.

From present indications, you will be cold before you are hungry. Sift those ashes.—E. C. Payne.

Anybody can talk patriotism, but only real friends of America buy Liberty Bonds.

Voice of the People

Editor Albany-Decatur Daily:

As the authorized agent for collection of arrears due the Albany Board of Commerce on subscription for membership, while doing this work gratuitously at a cost to myself of a draft on my nerve energy, yet in a moderate way I feel that the game is "worth the powder," while working in a good cause, whether or not full and satisfactory results are obtained. In my itinerary I find some slackers who have slight conception of the value of a moral obligation. As a matter of fact, the signing a card for membership in the Board of Commerce was not alone a moral obligation, but a legal one as well, and as binding as a note of hand, for value received and collection by legal process. It must be borne in mind that expenses incurred by the Board in carrying out the purposes for which it was called into being was predicated upon their supposed visible assets as shown by the roll of membership, each subscriber pledging himself to the amount of his subscription to the parent company.

The work accomplished by the Board in its first year's life is simply marvelous, and with continued effort in the direction of industrial expansion, it is but the forerunner of what is to follow. All it requires is a long pull, a strong pull and a pull together. The Board is in debt several hundred dollars with outstanding accounts more than enough to cover all indebtedness and leave a small balance in the treasury to start out on its second year's journey in the good work. Now it's up to you delinquents to come across speedily and make your obligation good by prompt payment of dues.

I will repeat, the outstanding accounts are collectable by law; but speaking for myself, I'd deplore taking drastic action. This is a matter for the board of directors to determine. But one thing is certain, the Albany Board of Commerce must pay its debts, and start in the second year's business with a clean slate.

Right now there is more need of a live business organization in this neck of the woods than ever before; not only that the company has made a fine beginning, but the location of the experimental nitrate plant and powder plant at Sheffield and also the development of the Shoals and improvement of the Tennessee river.

We may reasonably expect an influx of visiting prospectors by early spring. The visitors must be met by a live business organization and not by "snipers."

In conclusion I may say I shall make a further effort at collecting by moral force only, and I most certainly hope the delinquents will wake up to the discharge of their duty.

CHAS. BASSETT.

WAVE ON, OLD GLORY!

The following patriotic composition was written by A. W. Ensley, at present an employee of the E. & N. shops. Owing to slight physical defects, Mr. Ensley, being unfit for the regular military service, applied to the government for a place as ambulance driver, but was told that his physical condition would not admit him into the service. The title of the patriotic sentiment is "Wave On, Old Glory."

Wave on, Old Glory! Full and free!
Wave on, wave on, o'er land and sea;
Wave on until the nations go marching side by side—
And civilization has struck its giant stride.

May in thy folds forever be
That unselfish message that gave thee birth!
To save the oppressed and slaved people of the earth;
Thou shalt, for aye, be free.

Wave on, Old Glory! until wars shall be no more!
And until thy mission is fulfilled;
Wave on, till peace shall reign forevermore,
Until the nations do the will that God hath willed!

Suspicious.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH AND EVERY OTHER DAY

BY OBSERVER.

Unresponsiveness is a dread disease of the soul. It is the worst of all soul diseases. It is sin's most deadly result. If you are unresponsive you are passing from life to death.

David, the murderer of Uriah, still was responsive to the stern rebuke of Nathan, the prophet. It was David's responsiveness that made him "a man after God's own heart." Certainly it was not David's goodness. In fact, "good" or "bad" are poor descriptive words when applied to persons. Christ himself once repudiated the title "Good Master." The devil knows nothing better suited to his purposes than for you to think that you have to be good in order to keep away from him. Such a belief will discourage and hence damn anybody. But you do have to be one thing—you do have to be responsive if you get by, in the spiritual sense.

God, of course, always wills to forgive you, but are you responsive to that will? Christ could not do many mighty works at a certain place because "they were offended at Him," and because of their unbelief. In other words, those people were unresponsive to Him. Faith and belief, as words, have been so badly abused that they are not of strong meaning to many. About everyone believes that the Savior of the world is the Savior, but He has saved now and in the past, only those who were and are responsive to Him.

A Marvel of Memory.

That Italian prodigy of learning, Ignatius de Rosal, made the boast that if any one could repeat a line from any of the four great poets of Italy he would follow it by reciting 100 lines following in due order of succession, and on a trial being made he actually accomplished the feat.

Good Reasons.

Help Win the War

If you do not go to the front, you can help to equip and sustain those who do. A speedy victory means quick preparation; and quick preparation requires ready money.

Every day of delay may cost thousands of lives at the front. The enemy must be beaten with dollars as well as bullets. He must be shown from the start that America means business.

The Liberty Loan Must Not Fail

and it will not fail if everybody does his part promptly. The humblest wage earner can afford a $50 bond; many can afford several of them. They pay 4 per cent interest and are the safest investment on the face of the earth.

There is no easier way of showing your patriotism than by lending, not giving, every dollar you can spare, to the United States Government. If you cannot afford a $1,000 bond, buy a $500 bond or a $100 bond or a $50 bond. Whichever you subscribe to, do so at once. Time is now all-important. See your banker or any banker today.

Buy Your Hudson Now At The Low Price

Prices will advance soon, but before that time comes our allotment will be sold.

Men who have held off buying Hudsons are going to be disappointed. They are going to wait until it is too late to buy one at the present low price. We expect the announcement of a price increase any day now, but before that time comes even our supply may be exhausted.

We have only so many Hudsons that we can sell at the low price we ask today. When these are gone, the next shipment from the factory will be at higher prices.

Men familiar with the material market who have watched practically every other make of cargo up in price, wonder why Hudsons did not advance long ago. Hudsons would have, too, but for the fact that Hudson prepared for the present market by her purchases of materials last year, when the market was considerably lower. Now these are nearly exhausted, and Hudsons built from now on will be of materials bought on a higher market. So Hudsons must cost more.

Will you wait too long? Will you be disappointed? Order today, for even tomorrow may be too late to take advantage of this great saving.

"QUANTITY"

One of the most serious problems of the merchant of today has to face is not how much he has to pay for merchandise, but how can he secure enough to meet the demands of his patrons. The question of "quantity" is an all-absorbing one. Many manufacturers are unable to fill orders, because of the lack of raw materials. Even the most casual reader of the market reports can realize, in a measure, the seriousness of the situation.

Fortunately we are protected by contracts made months ago and are in a more favorable condition than many of our fellow merchants to supply your needs. The completeness of our stocks will be apparent to all who investigate our Fall offerings. We invite your critical inspection.

Distinguished Officer To Visit Relatives

Lieutenant Colonel Frank Hardaway, 54th infantry, U. S. A., will arrive here tonight from Chickamauga to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Sanders. Col. Hardaway is a cousin of Mrs. Sanders, and has spent a lifetime in the army service, having served in many parts of the world—Cuba, Philippines and Mexican border among them. He was promoted for distinguished valor during the Spanish-American war for having saved his wounded colonel by exposing himself to a galling fire, springing over the ramparts and carrying his superior officer to safety. He is now colonel of the 17th regulars, U. S. A.

ITALIAN CABINET TO COLLAPSE IN WEEK.

Rome, Oct. 20.—Bitterness of the socialist attacks against the ministry is increasing, and predictions are made that before another week the cabinet will collapse.

GERMANS ATTACK FRENCH NORTH OF RIVER AISNE.
(International News Service.)

Paris, Oct. 20.—German troops tried to break into a French position north of the Aisne river during the night, but were driven off. The French war office announced this afternoon. The fighting centered around Manjean farm and followed a severe bombardment of the French lines. Heavy artillery fighting is taking place on both sides of the Meuse at Verdun.

TRANSPORT UNDER CONVOY WHEN HIT BY TORPEDO.
(International News Service.)

Washington, Oct. 20.—Every effort was being made by the war and navy departments today to secure a complete list of the casualties resulting from the torpedoing and sinking of the transport Antilles on Oct. 17. The missing list today remained at 70, a surprisingly small number in view of the fact that the big liner sank within five minutes. The majority of the casualties, officials feel certain were in the fire and engine room forces, as the men below decks had no chance to escape. The outstanding and impressive fact in the disaster is that the transport, although homeward bound, was under convoy, and that the escorting destroyer failed to see either the submarine or the torpedo. This indicates more than anything else the effectiveness of the German submarines that are operating against the American vessels.

Naval officials also sounded warning today that the American people must be prepared for the announcement of disasters similar to that of the Antilles at any time. Good fortune has favored the American transports up to this time. Many troop ships have been attacked, but in most instances no announcement has been made. Transports carrying troops to France have seen torpedoes go dangerously close to their bows, but the one fired at the Antilles was the first to strike. Although every precaution is being taken to safeguard the troop-carrying vessels, they are constantly in danger and the destruction of one of them at any time would not greatly surprise naval authorities.

Secretary Daniels today expressed regret at the unnecessary delay that attended the giving to the public the news of the disaster, but stated that steps would be taken to make a repetition impossible. He explained that it has been the policy to withhold news until the relatives of the victims had been notified.

Secretary Daniels announced the disaster last night in a statement based upon a brief dispatch from Vice Admiral Sims, which gave few details and did not say whether it was a day or night attack. An accurate list of the missing cannot be issued until General Pershing reports the names of the army men on the vessel and the list of the merchant crew. Following is the announcement:

The department is in receipt of a dispatch from Vice Admiral Sims, which states that the S. S. Antilles, an army transport, was torpedoed on October 17 while returning to this country from foreign service. This vessel was under convoy of American patrol vessels at the time.

The torpedo which struck the Antilles was not seen, nor was the submarine which fired it. The torpedo hit abreast of the engine room bulkhead and the ship sank within five minutes. One hundred and sixty-seven persons out of about 237 on board the Antilles were saved. About 70 men are missing. All the naval officers and officers of the army who were on board the ship at the time were saved, as were the officers of the ship, with the exception of the following: Walker, third engineer officer; Boyle, junior engineer officer, and O'Rourke, junior engineer officer. The following enlisted naval personnel were lost: E. L. Kinzey, seaman second class; next of kin, Thomas M. Kinzey, father, Water Valley, Miss. J. W. Hunt, seaman second class; next of kin, Isaac Hunt, father, Mountain Grove, Mo., R.

No. 1, Box 44, C. L. Ausburn, radio electrician first class; next of kin, Rausburn, brother, 2800 Louisiana avenue, New Orleans; and B. F. Watson, radio electrician third class; next of kin, Mrs. W. L. Seger, mother, Rutland, Mass. There were about 33 of the army enlisted personnel on board, of whom 17 were saved. The names of the missing of the army enlisted personnel and of the merchant crew of the ship cannot be given until the muster roll in France of those on board has been consulted. As soon as the department is in receipt of further details concerning the casualties they will be made public immediately.
